

Portage County

Ohio

BICENTENNIAL

ROAD SHOW

August – October 2008

One of the elements of the Portage County celebration has been dubbed the “Road Show.” In reality the “Road Show” is more of a parade float, showcasing posters from each of the 30 political subdivisions.

These posters will be transferred onto banners and mounted to framework that has been especially constructed for a low-flatbed truck trailer. The Portage County Bicentennial Road Show will be included in community parades and festivals throughout 2007 and 2008. It will also be on display at the Randolph Fair.